VIRGINIA STORYLINES AND FUN FACTS

- The Cavaliers have a very international flair. Joining Nigeria's Felicia Aiyeotan and Luxembourg's Lisa Jablonowski is redshirt freshman guard Amandine Toi from Paris. Toi was a member of the French U19 Junior National Team and competed at the 2017 U19 FIBA Women's Basketball World Cup in Italy, finishing in fifth place. Toi missed all of last season after sustaining an injury to her left knee right before the start of the season. This year, she sustained an injury to her right knee in practice the week before the start of the season
- Jablonowski is fluent in English, German, French and Luxembourgish. Her family is originally from Poland, but she is not fluent in Polish. Aiyeotan speaks English and Yoruba. Toi speaks English and French. Jocelyn Willoughby is a native English speaker, but was a member of the UVA Spanish club and is not quite fluent in Spanish
- Jablonowski has made the most of her time in the United States, traveling extensively, including doing a driving tour of the West this summer, including Southern Utah and Colorado. She has also visited New York City and other major metropolitan areas
- Mone Jones is majoring in drama. Right before the season began, she was the stage manager for the play The Wolves being produced by the UVA Department of Drama at the Ruth Caplin Theatre
- Dominique Toussaint is also majoring in drama
- Khyasia Caldwell is a two-sport athlete at UVA. She is a long jumper on the track & field team during outdoor season. Last year, she was the ACC runner-up in the long jump, capturing a mark of 6.10m (20'0.25") for second place and earning All-ACC honors. She ranks 10th in the UVA record book with a PR 6.12m (20' 1") in the event last year

- Freshman Erica Martinsen and Felicia Aiyeotan were teammates at Blair Academy for one year
- Brianna Tinsley's hometown is Madison, Va., but she went to high school at Charlottesville's St. Anne's-Belfield, the campus of which is only 3/4's of a mile from John Paul Jones Arena Felicia Aiyeotan, a 6-9 center from Lagos, Nigeria who was the tallest active player in NCAAWBB last season, was the conference leader in blocked shots last season and comes into her junior season tied for fourth in UVA history in that statistical category. A member of the ACC All-Defensive team, she started 27 of 33 games, averaging 7.4 points per game with seven double-doubles
- Aiyeotan did not start playing basketball until she was 12 years old. She was convinced to attend a camp put on by the Hope 4 Girls foundation, which changed the course of her life. Aiyeotan grew up in a poor section of Lagos and attended public school. With her height, she was forced to sit in the back of the class (with class sizes of 120 or more), couldn't ask questions, and felt quite isolated. She was relentlessly bullied because of her height and was very isolated and shy. After discovering basketball, she found her calling, and built her self-esteem, breaking out of her shell. The organization, whose mission is "to provide opportunities to empower young women to become leaders in their communities through sport and education" was founded by Mobolaji Akiode (known as MoBo), a former Fordham basketball player and Olympian with the Nigerian National team. They helped Felicia obtain a scholarship to come to the US for high school, where she played first at Neumann-Goretti before finishing her senior season at Blair Academy. Felicia has been back to Nigeria each of the last two summers (about two week trips each time). It is her goal to go back after graduating and be a role model for others in a community that is very short on strong, powerful, successful female figures
- More from Aiyeotan: "Most schools just have soccer fields. There weren't basketball courts or gyms at my school because it was a public school. They don't have a lot of resources for that. Where I lived, though, there was an outdoor basketball court. I would go there on the weekends because during the week, I had to go to tutoring. At that time I wasn't fully into basketball. Since it was outdoors, the weather would sometimes mess your schedule up because it would rain." She came to the United States before her freshman year in high school. She spent three years at Neumann Goretti High in Philadelphia (where they were the No. 1 team in the nation her junior year before transferring to Blair Academy in New Jersey for her senior year. Pounded Yam Egusi Soup is her favorite dish from home that her mom makes. "Pounded yam looks like dough, like mashed potatoes and then Egusi soup is made out of melon and vegetables. You can add whatever you want, if you want beef or fish, but it is spicy." She really misses the spice of Nigerian food

OFFCOURT NOTES ON JOCELYN WILLOUGHBY

- Jocelyn Willoughby is the non-voting, student-athlete member of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Oversight Committee. Willoughby is the lone student-athlete on the 15-member committee with her tenure running through June 2020. The goals of the committee are to advance the game and perception of women's basketball, improve the student-athlete experience and put an emphasis on the personal growth of student athletes. Along with the goals, it will also work to supervise qualifications and/or selection procedures for the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship and provide direction to the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Rules Committee regarding playing rules.
- Willoughby is also a Meriwether Lewis Institute for Citizen Leadership Fellow (Class of 2020 cohort). Each year, 25 students are selected to become Fellows in the fall of their second year. Incorporating academic, experiential, and applied learning elements, the program includes a School of Architecture course on "Foundations in Design Thinking" for Fellows in the second-year spring semester. Subsequent components include a six-week summer leadership institute, a Batten School "Leadership in Practice" seminar in the third-year spring semester, and ongoing work to improve the University in their fourth years.
- During UVA's Fall Convocation Ceremony on October 26, Willoughby received a certificate of Intermediate Honors, a distinction given to third-year students who are among the top 20 percent of their class in the College of Arts & Sciences. Willoughby is completing her undergraduate degree in Global Development Studies a year early (she will graduate in May), and she will complete her Master's in Public Policy degree (which she has already begun) in the spring of 2020. She is also an Office of African-American Affairs Peer Advisor
- Willoughby has also been given the honor of living on the Lawn this year, one of the top honors awarded to fourth-year students at the University. Willoughby, who is athletically a junior, will graduate in May in three years, but will play her fourth year as a grad student next year. Residence on the Lawn recognizes students for unselfish service to the University and Charlottesville/Albemarle County communities, and achievement in their respective fields of activity and academics. Lawn residents are a diverse group of students who represent widely varying activities, backgrounds, and interests. Students selected to live on the Lawn enjoy the distinction earned by their unselfish service and achievement in their respective fields of activity and academics. The nature and quality of service to the University and broader local community is a major consideration in making selections. Once chosen for the Lawn, they assume an obligation to so manage their living as to enhance the general reputation and good name of the University in the eyes of the public, since Lawn rooms are constantly in the public eye. Details of the special obligations include continued involvement in the University community, adherence to University policies in the historic public space, as well taking responsibility for establishing a vibrant and welcoming Lawn community and active participation in events
